

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS ALL OVER THE WORLD

Short Stories of Unusual Happenings and Singular Experiences Picked Out of the Chronicles of the Day.

"I sentence myself to one day in prison," said Police Judge James Austin, Jr., of Cleveland, the "Golden Rule Judge," as he was closing court yesterday.

He began his term this morning, riding from court with other prisoners in the patrol wagon to the workhouse.

"What's the charge?" reporters asked him.

"Curiosity," he said. "I want to get closer touch with prison life. I mean to find out as a common prisoner just what it means."

FELL 30 FEET INTO OPERATING ROOM.

Marcus Cohen, of this city, working on the roof of a sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich., last evening fell through a skylight thirty feet to the floor of the operating room. He landed within a few feet of the operating table.

Surgeons lifted him to the table and cut him around the head, which were broken and sewed up a number of cuts, before he regained consciousness.

GIRL IN JAIL FOR REFUSING TO WED.

John Kerlachy, of Ormrod, Pa., has sued Miss Annie Pelet, of Allentown, Pa., for $6,000 damages to his heart for breach of promise to marry. Annie is nineteen.

Kerlachy had her arrested and spent a night in jail, but she escaped Saturday. He is still surprised last Saturday to wed him, and he got the license; but he learned then she was already licensed to marry another.

Annie was discharged because she is a minor.

LAWMAKERS OUST AN "ENOCHE ARDEN."

The Legislature of North Carolina last evening passed a bill validating the marriage of Joseph Ridenhour to Mrs. H. C. Doris. They live in Rowes County. Mrs. Doris' first husband is living and not divorced.

Doris left his home four years ago and was never heard from until a year ago, when his wife heard he was dead. She then married Ridenhour.

Recently Doris returned home. But he left when he found his wife married again.

CAUGHT ASLEEP IN SHOP HE WOULD ROB.

After breaking into a barber shop at Claremont, N. H., fifteen-year-old Albert St. George sat down in a chair and went to sleep.

He was found there and arrested. Miss Delta Durward identified him as the lad who had held up and robbed her of an empty pocketbook.
